MANY DEATHS ON YALU, IS SAID

In the Meantime the Advantage of Sunday's Battle Will Be Pressed—Minister in London Outlines Present Situation.

London, May 2.—Baron Hayashi, the Japanese minister here, who has been the recipient of numerous telegrams of congratulation on the Japanese success on the Yalu and especially on the result of the first serious land fighting, said to the Associated Press:

"The immediate result of General Kuroki's success will probably be a movement on Feng-huan-cheng, which the Chinese had fortified with their usual brick structures. Since the commencement of the war the Russians doubtless have added earthworks, but their loss of guns yesterday must seriously diminish their defensive strength.

"I understand though I cannot vouch for the absolute accuracy of the statement, that Russia has only [illegible] in Manchuria. If that is the case her artillery strength has been diminished almost one-third.

Russian Strategy Failed.

"They fight well these Russians, and Feng-huan-cheng will not be taken without a hard struggle unless General [illegible] plan of campaign. The announcement that the Russians will not contest the crossing of the Yalu has proved, as we thought, to be misleading. Thirty thousand men is far too large a body for any general to leave in the face of the enemy, if it were merely intended to hamper his movements. Kuropatkin evidently meant to make a determined resistance, but he either underestimated our strength or disposed his forces in the belief that we would not venture a frontal attack.

"I take it from the dispatches received that we have now practically secured control of both banks of the Yalu. In consequence our base will probably be moved to Antung.

"To be perfectly frank, I must say I expected yesterday's engagement would be more decisive, especially in view of the large number of Russian troops opposed to us. Its significance must largely depend on our ability to pursue the enemy."

Ultimate Defense.

Reviewing the whole future of the struggle that has just commenced in such deadly earnest on land, Baron Hayashi said:

"The duration of the war must rather lie with Russia than with Japan. For the moment the military advantage is with us, for Kuropatkin has extended his front, and we can strike where and when we will. Our aggressive movement may be carried on to Mukden, perhaps to Harbin and perhaps even further, but before long there must come a stage of the campaign where Russia will assume the role of the invading power and where we must act solely on the defense. From the beginning it has been so and our aggression is and has been but a means toward the eventual repulsion of an invading army.

"General Kuroki himself probably cannot say at this moment at exactly what point our aggression will be changed into the defensive. Kuropatkin, so I believe, says he will not undertake to drive us back until he has 300,000 men ready to take the field. I think that at least five per cent. of that force will die from sickness so that to keep his force at the maximum required Kuropatkin will always have to be transporting 15,000 men from St. Petersburg—no small task.

Famine Inevitable.

"This year's harvest in Manchuria, I learn, promises to be bad. A million Russians there in addition to the army must be fed. We have or shall have closed every source of food supply except by the Siberian railroad. Even with double tracks and no men or munitions on the Yalu and especially no conditions of war to transport the problem of feeding the Russian population in itself intensely serious, but with a single track road, which is Russia's only vital sinew, it means almost impossible, and famine appears inevitable.

"With this dreadful accompaniment of war there is only too likely to be a rising among the Manchurians. They may attack the Russians or they may attack us. Either case is bad enough to contemplate.

Finishing Korean Railway.

"To help us sit down and wait all these contingencies, we are working day and night on the Korea railroad and by October the unfinished portions of the road between Fusan and Seoul will be completed and a new line from Seoul to Wiju will also be ready. Locomotives are coming from the United States and as soon as [illegible] we will have a strong and rapid line of communication [illegible] which will almost touch [illegible] mainland and we will not be [illegible] from want of supplies or reinforcements.

To Cut Off Port Arthur.

"As regards Port Arthur and Vladivostok the situation is somewhat different. I cannot say anything about the movements of our enemy [illegible] have been mobilized but there is no doubt but that the Japanese navy is will be cut from supplies if any success attends our land forces. Neither Port Arthur nor Vladivostok can be taken by our land forces or starved out by September. The Chinese are smuggling provisions into Port Arthur now from Chee Foo but only to an immaterial extent and that will soon cease.

"Vice Admiral Togo doubtless will remain on watch outside Port Arthur. By September, when the hurricane season comes, he should be able to safely house his fleet in a Japanese port. No fleet, Russian or Japanese, could be particularly effective then. I scarcely think Russia will send her Baltic fleet to face our autumn hurricanes. If the ships go before then they will encounter the monsoon period, which lasts from May to August and in which coaling at sea en route to Japan would be exceptionally dangerous, if not impossible and coaling at sea is the only way the Baltic fleet can take a hand in the war."

No Period of Inaction.

Referring to the long period which elapsed between the declaration of war and the land fighting Minister Hayashi said:

"That waiting which tired the patience of the rest of the world has been a busy and exciting time for us. Our troops have been continually marching and working in anticipation of striking the blow which would initiate the campaign in Manchuria.

"I do not think our morale has been in any way affected by what it is so erroneously described as a period of inaction. General Kuroki may, even by his own countrymen, be thought to be rather slow but it is better to be sure.

"The most unfortunate incident of the campaign up to date is Vice Admiral Kamimuras misfortune in missing the Vladivostok fleet. It seems from here that it was a pity the vice admiral did not stay outside that port instead of trying to find the Russian [illegible] sea."

PLASCHER REPORTS MEETING OF MINERS AND INCREASE ACCOMPLISHED AND PROMISED

WIND SWEEPS RAIN DOWN PEAKS THEREFROM

Damage to Property by Yesterday's Storm Runs into the Thousands—Snowfall in the Mountains of Twenty-four Inches.

Between two and three this morning the storm raged more fiercely than at any time since it started. The rain came down in a perfect deluge and alleys and streets were running streams. The lightning also played fiercely through the atmosphere and did some damage to the electric light system. A bolt of electricity struck the Fountain street arc light system and quickly communicated itself to the sub-station. A watch was being kept for such accidents and the circuit as well as several adjacent arc and incandescent lights were thrown out. The others were quickly put back on, but the Fountain street circuit was knocked out for the night.

Word from Fountain early this morning is to the effect that the creek is raising steadily and at 2:30 a. m. was within a foot of the bridge. It was feared there that the bridge would go. The rainfall there was heavy all day and night.

The precipitation fell of thirteen years in the Pikes Peak region was broken yesterday.

According to the report of the Colorado College weather bureau twenty-[illegible] inches of rain fell between 6 o'clock Saturday and 6 p. m. yesterday. The highest previous 24-hour record in the fourteen years that the weather bureau has been in service was 3.95 in. that when the precipitation was 6 inches, and again on July 19, 1897 when the same fall of rain was recorded.

Shortly after 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon 1.35 inches of rain fell in 15 minutes.

The rainfall in the city was in comparison mild with the snowfall in the mountains. Reports to the Gazette last night were to the effect that 24 inches of snow had fallen and at 8 o'clock the storm was still in progress. Like reports of a heavy snowfall were received from Stratton Divide.

Railroads, streets and bridges all suffered from the storm of yesterday. Telegraph and telephone wires went down, sidewalks were washed away and the damage done will amount to thousands of dollars.

At 6 o'clock last evening the sky partially cleared but at midnight the rain began falling again in torrents, and at 3 o'clock this morning the indications pointed to a steady downpour for several hours to come.

Heavy Damage Done.

Early yesterday morning the destructive effects of the rain were felt by the Denver & Rio Grande, Colorado Midland and the Short Line railways. The Rio Grande spur from Colorado Springs to Manitou was washed away early in the day, and passengers had to be transferred to street cars. The Colorado Midland was demoralized between Colorado City and Manitou, and reports from [illegible] the last night were to the effect that a large section of the road bed had been undermined and the track washed away in many places. The Short Line suffered from landslides, several occurring during the day. It was stated [illegible] that the damage would be repaired by today. Trains on this line from the gold camp yesterday were delayed several hours. A landslide occurred at Little Fountain, about 19 miles from Colorado Springs, and another at Blue Cut, near Bear Creek canon.

The worst have seems to have been wrought toward the south and west. Manitou was the scene of a small sized flood last night. The waters poured down Ruxton and Williams canons and carried debris into the town of Manitou. Several bridges over Ruxton creek were carried away and Temple drive was made impassable.

Child Has Narrow Escape.

A narrow escape from drowning was reported from Manitou last night. Reggie Crosby, the four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crosby, was playing on Ruxton avenue when a rush of water came down the street and would have carried the child along with it had not his father rescued him just in time.

In Colorado Springs the streets were flooded in several sections of the city. The West side was those that suffered from the effects of the downpour. The new bridge over Shook's canon at St. Vrain was in early danger of the high water in the creek. The damage done to water mains will cost several hundred dollars. [illegible] bridges have been washed away and the basements of many buildings flooded.

While the street car company managed to keep its lines in operation yesterday, considerable difficulty was experienced at night and it is doubtful if the service can be maintained on the Manitou line today. The tracks west of Colorado City became so packed with sand and stones yesterday that passengers had to be transferred to cars in waiting at the other side of Adams crossing.

Damage to Car Lines.

Several washouts were reported on the lines last night, and forces of men were kept repairing the damage.

The rain yesterday and last night was accompanied by a high wind that swept the water in torrents. After midnight the electrical features of the storm became more evident and wires were struck by lightning in several places. Communication with Cripple Creek by telephone was cut off yesterday and the damage has not been reported.

It was also impossible at times to communicate with points to the south and west and linemen were kept busily employed all day.

Although the damage done will run into thousands of dollars, the rain will be of inestimable benefit to the ranchmen of the Fountain valley. In addition to the prospects for good crops the heavy fall of snow in the mountains insures an abundant water supply for the season, and the reservoirs

The County Convention Adopts Resolutions Reaffirming Party Principles.

NINE NEW MEMBERS

County Central Committee is Increased to Give Recognition to Colorado City and Outside Precincts.

The Republican convention of El Paso county was held in the court house yesterday afternoon. There was a large attendance of delegates despite the unfavorable weather, and a great deal of enthusiasm was manifested over the outlook for the party in the county and the state this fall.

The principal business of the convention was the selection of list of delegates to the Second congressional convention, which meets in Glenwood Springs tomorrow and also to the state convention which meets in Denver on May 6.

A resolution to increase the county central committee by nine men from outside Colorado Springs in order to give Colorado City and the country precincts representation on that committee was bitterly fought on the floor of the convention by the Anti-Wolcott faction.

The resolution was introduced by Postmaster H. H. Grafton of Manitou, who moved its adoption. The motion was seconded by John W. Wilson, while Mr. Grafton, C. C. Hamlin, W. S. Boynton, John E. Little, [illegible] Enslen, James Taggart and F. E. Boynton spoke in favor of it. Judge W. S. Morris, Senator Arthur Comforth and Maj. Henry McAllister opposed the resolution. The term "faction" was used freely by those opposing the resolution and considerable feeling developed. Col. Aldrich, who was chairman, appealed to the convention to hear both sides fairly.

The resolution was adopted and nine new members of the county central committee were elected by the convention amid cheers.

When the convention was called to order at 2:30 the criminal court room was crowded with delegates and spectators. The judge's desk was adorned with a handsome fern while across the wall behind the desk was draped a large American flag.

Col. Aldrich Made Chairman.

County Chairman Chambers rapped for order at 2:30 and the call was read by Secretary Dutcher of the county committee. W. S. Boynton then arose and nominated Col. Sherwood Aldrich for temporary chairman. The nomination was seconded from several parts of the house, and Col. Aldrich was elected with great applause. He was introduced by Mr. Chambers and as he took the gavel said:

"Ladies and Gentlemen: I thank you for the honor of placing me as presiding officer of the El Paso county convention. We are here in response to a thrilling call for another campaign. Every county and state in this country is preparing for a sweeping victory at the polls this fall (applause).

We start out with a national ticket practically elected. For eight years there has been general prosperity and happiness throughout the land. The popular character of William McKinley as chief executive, and later that of Theodore Roosevelt (great and prolonged applause), has made a national administration of great strength.

"Here in Colorado we have been passing through troublesome times and it is now our duty to protect the honest workingman in his desire to perform honest toil and the merchant in his effort to conduct his business (applause). Every man will be expected to do his duty at the polls. In the most populous city of our state the ballot has been powerful in the hands of a dishonest gang and this must be stopped. As Republicans of El Paso county we must fight to the finish in this campaign."

Judge W. S. Morris nominated George W. Bierbauer as temporary secretary and he was elected without opposition. Mr. Bierbauer took his office with the simple remark: "I thank you, ladies and gentlemen, for the honor."

Work of Organization.

On motion of Judge Morris, the [illegible]

THE RESOLUTIONS.

We, the representatives of the Republican party of El Paso county, in convention assembled, most heartily indorse the wise and courageous administration of President Roosevelt and look forward with confident expectation to his nomination and triumphant election.

We reaffirm our allegiance to the principles of the Republican party as declared by the Republican National convention in 1900, when our great and good martyred president, William McKinley, was nominated.

We favor the strict and impartial enforcement of the law at all times, and the protection of the constitutional rights of every citizen; and we indorse Governor Peabody in maintaining law and order in this state.

We commend the faithful and efficient work in congress of our delegation, Hon. Franklin E. Brooks, Hon. Herbert M. Rockwell and Hon. Robert W. Bonynge.

NEW BUILDING INSPECTOR

Building Committee Declares That Young Must Go, and a Stormy Session of Council Ensues.

The trouble between the building committee of the city council and Building Inspector Young came to a head last night when the council passed an ordinance making the building inspector's office a salary office and placing that officer responsible to the council through the building committee.

Building Inspector Young is slated to be relegated to retirement next Tuesday night when the matter of appointments comes up. Alderman Dunbar and Alderman Holden voted against the ordinance last night, Alderman Holden contending that Mr. Young is a thoroughly competent and honest official. Alderman Verner and Alderman Hill stated that it was either a case of Young going or of the public grounds and buildings committee resigning. Alderman Perkins nodded assent and voted with Hill and Verner as did also Alderman Patton.

Alderman Hill stated that the committee had several things pending until a new building inspector is elected. He declared that if Mr. Young is a competent official, then the building committee is incompetent. Both he and Alderman Verner stated that the attitude of those who favored Young as against the committee could not be construed by them otherwise than as an insult to the committee. Mr. Dunbar and Mr. Holden disclaimed any intention of insulting the committee, and there the matter stands.

On Tuesday, Alderman St. John will be here and the council will take advantage of his presence that night to take up all appointments.

SEEK GOVERNMENT AID

Position of the Reclamation Service Briefly Outlined—Settlers Must Take the Initiative.

Special to the Gazette.

Washington, May 2.—The operations of the engineers of the reclamation service since the passage of the irrigation act have excited widespread interest throughout the country. In many sections of the west irrigation has been developed to a point where the requirements of the land exceed the normal water supply, and the settlers are organizing with a view of securing the aid of the government in the construction of immense storage works to conserve the flood waters now going to waste. The assistance of the government is asked as the cost of the work is beyond the means of the land owners. In all such cases the policy of the reclamation service has been to make it clearly understood that this assistance can be secured only through the influence of a healthy and sustained public opinion expressed in a direct communication to the secretary of the interior from the people. In brief, the direct beneficiaries—the actual land owners—must take the initiative and organize along lines similar to those followed by the settlers of Salt river valley.

It should be understood that the irrigation projects which naturally appeal most to the engineers are those which are free from the vexing questions of private ownership of land and water. Large enterprises which contemplate the reclamation of vast areas of desert land, yet a part of the public domain, present no obstacles aside from those of a purely physical or engineering character, while the construction of works in settled communities is sure to involve personal features often more trying than anything found in the actual work of construction.

Jusht now there are several irrigation districts making appeals to the government for assistance, in order that many thousands of acres of crops may be saved from partial or total loss each year by reason of a scanty water supply. In one of these districts, the famous valley of the Uncompahgre, the laterals and ditch-owners have perfected an organization and will shortly present a formal demand for federal aid in the construction of the Gunnison tunnel.

In Montana, Idaho, South Dakota, Oregon, and other states, similar organizations are forming; mass meetings are being held, officers elected, and calls considered. The role of the reclamation service in all such cases is [illegible] the proper form of organization required by the department before definite action can be taken, but in all other essentials the settlers are informed that they must work out their own destiny; that their requests for aid must bear practically the unanimous indorsement of the actual property owners, and must be free from suspicion of politics.

Down in the forbidding Salton desert the settlers are petitioning the government to take up a stupendous work for the fuller utilization of the waters of the great Colorado river. To those making such request, and to all others who in the future may desire the government's aid, the above outline of the position of the reclamation service is especially directed.

AN IMPORTANT DECISION IN MINING CASE

U. S. SUPREME COURT RENDERS DECISION REGARDING RIGHT TO LOCATE LODE CLAIMS ON PLACER LOCATIONS.

Leadville, May 2.—By a decision of the supreme court of the United States rendered today, the Eli Mining and Land company wins from the Clipper Mining company and the title to land on the Searl placer is settled. The Searl placer was first located in 1877 by the late A. D. Searl of this city. In 1880 Carleton brothers located four lode claims on the Searl placer ground. Adverse suit was started immediately and decided in favor of the placer claimants in the district court by Judge Rucker. The Colorado state supreme court upheld the district court decision and the United States supreme court today affirmed the decisions of the lower courts.

Besides the titles to the land about $12,000 in royalties are involved.

TWO FEET OF SNOW IN THE DISTRICT AND STILL COMING—RAILROADS ARE BLOCKED AND BUSINESS SUSPENDED.

Special to the Gazette.

Cripple Creek, May 2.—One of the worst spring blizzards in the history of the district has prevailed today, and tonight the snow lies from 18 inches to two feet deep on the level with drifts many times that depth and the storm still continuing.

The telegraph wires are the only means of communication with the outside world or with other towns of the district. Telephone service was suspended early in the day. The cable line through Altman is down and the loss to the telephone company alone is several thousand dollars. The local repair force is totally inadequate to handle the situation and 12 additional men are coming from Denver.

The electric railway lines have all been abandoned and the steam roads are also tied up, the Midland being the worst sufferer. The roads are utterly impassable for ore wagons and business is almost wholly suspended.

STRIKE ON THE SANTA FE NOT CONSIDERED SERIOUS

Chicago, May 2.—Third Vice President Kendrick of the Santa Fe system issued the following statement tonight relative to the machinists strike which was declared on the Santa Fe today. "In view of the exaggerated statements that have been made regarding the probable magnitude of the strike of the Santa Fe system that has come about by order of the executive officers of the International Association of Machinists, it seems proper for me to say that the full force of machinists, machinists' helpers and machinist apprentices, including non-union men, employed January 1 of this year on the entire system was only 2,375. Fire in East Side Building Last Night Caused About $400 Damage. Origin Unknown.

The fire department received a call from box 22 last night and made a run through the rain to 232 North Water street, on the east side, where a blaze was playing havoc with a grocery stock belonging to Jack Neuderhouser.

The fire was soon extinguished and the loss will not exceed $400, fully covered by insurance. The fire did not reach the outside of the building at all. It had been burning some time before it was discovered by a passer-by. The origin is unknown. Mr. Neuderhouser stated that he had not been in the building yesterday afternoon or evening and could not guess how the blaze started.

COLLEGE MINSTRELS

The Entertainment Friday Night Will Be Followed by Track Meet on Washburn Field Saturday.

This week will be a very important one for the Colorado College Athletic association. First with the putting up of the splendid new iron fence about Washburn Field, there will be completed the last of the transformations which have made this athletic park into one of the finest of the west. This work will be done in time to handle the immense crowd which is expected to assemble there next Saturday to witness the big state field meet.

An event of equal importance to the association and of interest to its friends will be the big benefit minstrel show to be given Friday evening at the Temple theater.

Reports from the managers of the enterprise indicate that it will deserve the success which now seems assured, as all the musical organizations and fun-makers [illegible] have been drafted into the cast, along with the very best amateur talent of the city.

A "Business Chance" advertisement in the want columns of the Gazette will, in all probability, find a buyer for you if you want to sell.

A PLACE TO LIVE.

You can find a furnished room that is really a place to live—not a mere lodging—by advertising for it in the Want Columns of the Gazette.

MUSICAL TREAT.

An Audience of 1500 Enjoyed the Midland Band Concert At Stratton Park Yesterday Afternoon.

Regardless of disagreeable weather, fifteen hundred music lovers were in attendance at the Stratton park Midland band concert yesterday afternoon, and were repaid the discomforts of the trip by hearing an especially fine program. Many of the numbers were given for the first time and proved to be great favorites. One of the best was Donizetti's "Torquato Tasso." Music from this opera should be heard more often as it contains many beautiful themes. Paderewski's "Minuet" was given with a delicacy of tone and shading that astonished and delighted admirers of this well known number. Director Irvine and the members of his famous organization fully deserved the liberal applause bestowed upon them, and judging from yesterday's work, the finest music ever given by this band may be expected this season.

AMUSEMENTS.

Ladies Music and Mimic War.

Manager Nye has a program for the vaudeville this week that should appeal strongly to the ladies. Of the twelve persons who are to have part in the making of the performances eight are women, including the pianist. It is a very strong bill of refined musical numbers and will no doubt be appreciated by the ladies, who by the way, are so far the best patrons of the vaudeville.

A very strong feature of the bill is Miss Annette Moore, a sweet voiced soprano, who is one of the big cards in vaudeville. She is recently from the Orpheum circuit and this city and Denver are the only places in the state where she will be heard. After leaving here she joins "Banda Rossa," the famous Italian band that has toured this [illegible] and will appear with them at the St. Louis exposition as soloist. She is particularly strong in the familiar old ballads like "Annie Laurie" and the "Last Rose of Summer."

Essie St. Clair is the illustrated song singer this week. She has been a favorite wherever heard and the illustrated songs will prove a better feature that they have heretofore.

A musical number that will be a novelty in the way that it is handled as well as a delight because of merit, will be the Misses Chester and Smith in operatic selections.

A feature that alone should serve to fill the house at every performance is the moving picture "The Battle of the Yalu." It was shown at the Orpheum in Denver last week and was a big hit. It shows two regiments of infantry, Cossack cavalry, batteries of machine guns, and field artillery engaged in a conflict. Shells scream through the air and burst, houses blow up and burn. In the engagement the Japs attack a force of Russians entrenched on the crest of a hill and are repulsed; they then rally and finally capture the position. It is all very thrilling.

The first performance begins at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Merry Bill at Empire.

The Empire offers for this week one of the best bills since the opening of the house. The moving picture, "Uncle Tom's Cabin," is an entertainment in itself, and in addition there are several specialties that are bound to make a hit. Kendall and Thompson, musical artists; Swoar and Wesley, comedy team and dancers; Gale and Winsley, society sketch artists; Gladys Middleton, mezzo-soprano, and Dorothy Dean, in the illustrated song, "In the Valley of Kentucky" are features of the bill.

A BUSINESS CHANCE.

There is not a business in this city that has not a market value, and there is scarcely one that can not be sold for its market value.

A "Business Chance" advertisement in the want columns of the Gazette will, in all probability, find a buyer for you if you want to sell.

AMUSEMENTS.

Opera House Bill.

In spite of wind and rain the Opera house vaudeville drew fair audiences yesterday when the new bill went on. It is the best performance yet put on at this house in the vaudeville line. There is not much "hurrah" about it, but the stage is kept full of good-looking young women who do musical "stunts" of a high order. It is a bill bound to grow in popularity as the week goes on.

Brumage and Clark open the performances with a comic and musical act. Miss Annetta Moore, a sweet-voiced soprano, sung her way into the hearts of the people with "Coming through the Rye" and other familiar selections. Sully and Phelps came on with a clever [illegible] in keeping with the general program. Then the Misses Smith and Chester gave operatic selections. They were handsomely received and much applauded. Their work is of a high order.

One of the big hits of the bill is Lillian Lloyd, the cornetist. She is an artist of the highest rank and her stage presence is pleasing. She was encored again and again at each appearance. Miss Essie St. Clair brought the most beautiful pictures that have ever been seen here in an illustrated song. She is a charming singer as well.

"The Battle of Tain" proved to be all that had been said about it. A more stirring, moving picture has seldom been exhibited. It shows an attack by Japs, a repulse and a victory. Bullets "spit", horses rush on dragging artillery, and cannon boom. It is a most impressive picture. The concluding number is Russell and Dunbar, who do a plantation negro act. It is musical and amusing.

The entertainment is well calculated to attract the ladies and children. The company will appear again this afternoon and evening.

Anna Held Coming.

One week from tonight Anna Held will be here. The bare announcement conjures visions of scintillating lights, fair forms, good music and clever comedy. Dainty little Anna, with her eyes that actually seem to flirt with everyone in the audience, a glitter of jewels and a certain "chic" manner that cannot be described, will be here, surrounded by the admirable company that Maurice Ziegenfeld always has supporting his star.

The Parisian beauty will present the play that has been such a success the past season, entitled "Mlle. Napoleon."

Georgia Minstrels.

Richards and Pringle's famous Georgia Minstrels will appear at the Opera house on Saturday afternoon and evening. The coming of this popular organization is always hailed with delight by lovers of old-time minstrelsy, as the performance approaches nearer to what made the minstrels so popular. The manager of the local play house is also glad to see the "Georgias" make their annual visit, as it means a full house and big box office receipts.

The word is passed along the line that the show put up by these sons of Ham excels anything ever seen by this or similar organizations. Reduced prices will be charged for the minstrels. The matinee prices will be: Children, 25c; adults, 50c. Evening prices: First floor, 75c; balcony, 50c; gallery, 25c.

The Empire.

Notwithstanding the inclement weather, this cozy Bijou Family theater was well filled last night at all performances to witness the exceptionally strong bill that Manager Hagen is offering his patrons. Kendall and Thompson, cornet duetists are one of the strongest features ever seen in the Novelty theater circuit. Their act consists of duets and solos of the highest class, both have pleasing personalities and they enclose their numbers elegantly.

Swor and Westbrook introduce singing and dancing and talking numbers that go with the audience with enthusiasm.

Gale and Westbrook do an operatic sketch that is not usually seen in this class of houses.

The picture machine offering for the first half of the week is the well-known and always popular "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

For Children, Teething.

Mr. Wiley Hunt, Ennis, Texas writes: We gave Drake's Palmetto Wine to two children who were afflicted with bed wetting. Two bottles of Drake's Palmetto Wine cured both. It is now a month since they took the last of the wine and no return of their trouble. I told a neighbor who had a child troubled same way what the wine did for our children. They got a bottle of Drake's Palmetto Wine and in one week their child had no more trouble with bed wetting. The Drake Formula Company, Drake Building, Chicago, Ill., will send a trial bottle of Drake's Palmetto Wine free and prepaid to any reader of this paper who wishes to try Drake's Palmetto Wine without expense. A trial bottle often cures. One dose a day will cure any bladder or prostate trouble to stay cured.

MINISTERS WILL TAKE VACATION

LAST REGULAR MEETING WAS HELD YESTERDAY—BANQUET WILL BE HELD NEXT MONDAY.

The Ministerial association of Colorado Springs, Colorado City and Manitou held its last regular meeting in the parlors of the Y. M. C. A. yesterday morning. A banquet to close the year will be held next Monday.

The paper yesterday was by Dr. Edward Braislin on "What Is Religious Experience—Causes of Varieties of Religious Experiences." The committee appointed to visit the council reported and the matter of the drug stores was discussed. The same committee was appointed to visit the council last night. Dr. Gregg, Dr. Wilcox and Dr. Finkbiner were appointed to draft a program for next year. Rev. R. H. Ayres, Dr. C. B. Wilcox and Rev. E. Evans Carrington were appointed a committee to arrange for the banquet. Rev. R. H. Ayres was continued as president for the ensuing year.

SCHOOL ELECTIONS IN THREE TOWNS

THE ONLY CONTEST WAS AT COLORADO CITY, WHERE BENEDICT WON OVER BROWN—BIG VOTE POLLED.

W. F. Benedict won out over his opponent, Edward Brown, a candidate for re-election on the Colorado City school board, by a majority of 72 votes yesterday. W. F. Benedict received 452 votes as against 436 for Edward Brown.

Electioneering for both men had been going on for the past two weeks, but the interest manifested by the voting population was the time drew near, greatly surpassed the expectations of everyone.

The polls at the Bancroft school were open for three hours, from 2 until 5 p. m., and in that space of time nearly one thousand men and women cast their ballots. And this, too, while the rain fell in torrents. Had the afternoon been clear, it is estimated that the total vote polled would have reached at least eleven hundred.

Other members of the school board regard the election of Mr. Benedict as an indorsement of his policy.

HOTEL MEN

Will Hold Business Meeting and a Farewell Banquet in Denver This Afternoon and Evening.

The Rocky Mountain Hotel Men's association, organized in 1882 by Col. J. D. Fanning, Henry Wagnechl, and H. Greene Foy, will hold its annual meeting today at the Adams hotel, Denver.

The hotel men are of the opinion that recently they have been denied their privileges in the matter of railroad transportation, and will today formulate plans to press their demands.

The feature of the gathering will be the farewell banquet in honor of President Fanning at the Adams this evening. Mr. Fanning leaves for Boston.

The election in Colorado Springs and Manitou was without contest. In Colorado Springs Mrs. W. H. R. Stote had no opposition and received the total number of votes cast, 55. In Manitou the only candidate for the position was Walter Sawtle, who received the full vote, Thursday.

E. E. Nichols of the Cliff house in Manitou will be the toastmaster of the evening.

INCORPORATION—Articles of incorporation of the Guanajuato Reduction & Mines company filed with the county clerk yesterday. The capital stock of the company is placed at $1,500,000 at $100 a share. The purpose of the company is to operate mining propositions in Mexico. The directors for the ensuing year are: G. A. Beaton, C. L. Morris, Henry Hine, L. E. Curtis, J. S. Bartlett, L. A. Bailey, S. M. Hamill, C. A. Gregson, Jr., and John W. Welch.

"A terrible rash broke out on Charlie's poor little face and spread to his neck, chest and back. I never saw anything quite like it before," writes Mrs. Helene Roth of 821 10th Ave., N. Y. City. "The skin rose in little in pe, and matter ca out. My baby's skin was hot, and how he did [illegible]. He wouldn't eat, and night after night I walked the floor with him, weak as I was. Often I had to stop because I felt faint and my back throbbed with pain. But the worst pain of all was to see my poor little boy burning with those nasty sores. At last I was persuaded by a friend across the street to try the Cuticura Remedies. She gave me some Cuticura Ointment—I think the box was about half full—and a piece of Cuticura Soap. I followed the directions, bathing Charlie and putting that nice Ointment on the sores. Little by little, but so surely, Charlie and I both got more peace by day and more sleep by night. The sores sort of dried up and went away, and now Charlie is cured completely."

"Yes, that fat little boy by the window is Charlie, and his skin is as white as a snow flake, thanks to the Cuticura Remedies. I think everybody should know about the Soap and Ointment, and if it is going to help other mothers with sick babies, go ahead and publish what I have told you."

MELLOW GROUNDS PREVENT RECORDS TRACK MEET TODAY

The High School track meet, which was to have been held this afternoon on Washburn field, has been postponed on account of the condition of the ground. Present arrangements are for the holding of the meet tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, providing the condition of the track is such that the meet can be pulled off at that time. This test will determine the final track team to represent the local High school at Boulder in the state interscholastic meet on May 14. There is a great deal of rivalry among the four classes of the High school as to which will win the greatest number of points, as that class will have its numerals engraved on the alumni cup.

This interclass meet is an annual affair of great interest among the students and alumni of the school, and the board of education has allowed the school a holiday that a general interest will be manifested in track and field athletics. A large number of entries have been made in each event and there will undoubtedly be some good records made, although the greater part of the boys is not material, and are yet undeveloped.

From the winners of Wednesday's meet, however, the school expects to send a creditable team to Boulder a week from Saturday. The men composing the final team will elect their captain as soon as organized; the captains of the class teams are as follows: Senior, Ben Fellow; Junior, William Cort; Sophomore, Jack Stowell; Freshmen, Wynn Weller.

SUCCESS WITH AIRSHIP

Dr. Greth of San Francisco Had Machine Under Perfect Control Until Valve Broke—Safe Descent.

San Francisco, May 2—Dr. Greth tried to make a trip to San Jose in his airship, but after traveling about five miles [illegible] disarrangement of the steering gear was discovered and the aerial voyager was forced to make a landing. Dr. Greth was accompanied by Engineer Frederick Belcher. Dr. [illegible] of this experimental flight because he accomplished a good deal more than on former trials and from it he concluded that he is working in the right direction. He went up at 8:10 a. m. and with the car attached to a rope was held the motor balloon from doing any damage to the neighboring houses as it started towards the skies.

When the rope was cast off Dr. Greth let his machine rise still higher and then made a circular figure about a quarter of a mile in circumference. It was evident to those below that he had the machine under control at that time, for he circled about, stopped the engines and started them again, and then started out to the south at a high speed. Everything went well until the airship sailed over Blanken's six mile house on the San Bruno road. It was then going rapidly toward San Jose, but something went wrong with the machinery. The inventor and the engineer tried to adjust the break and then after a pause the fans were started going and the ship began to descend. To all appearance the fans were controlling the ship, though it was conceded they were not quite large and powerful [illegible] winds.

Eye witnesses of the descent said that the airship came down gradually and touched the ground gently, allowing the men in the car to step out. Nothing was injured either in the car or about the great gas bag. Dr. Greth stated that what happened could not be set right without certain tools and he deemed it expedient to descend under the circumstances.

Engineer Belcher said of his trip: "It was highly successful. Everything went well and all parts of the machinery were in good working order.

"I am thoroughly satisfied with the test. We could direct the machine at will and made several complete turns before descending.

"The sudden giving way of a small valve led us to descend at the six-mile house."

Late Railroad Reports.

While nothing definite could be learned from the railroad offices as to late developments in the storm situation following the early morning cloudburst here, it was learned that No. 16 on the Rio Grande, due here at 1:45 this morning, is not expected until between 7 and 8. This is attributed to storm conditions, probably in the Arkansas valley, as No. 16 is usually [illegible] on the Western division. [illegible] expected this morning.

TRACK WASHED AWAY AT COLORADO CITY

At Colorado City, from an insignificant stream of a few inches in depth, Fountain creek was converted into, formed into a raging torrent that carried everything in its path.

In many places between Sixth street down to First street the water cut its own channels. The banks on either side of the creek were undermined nearly the entire length of the city's boundaries and tons of earth were washed away.

At an early hour yesterday morning the bridge at Sixth street was considerably undermined. At the northeast end of the structure the water had cut a channel of its own back of the piers and abutments and carried away a large amount of the approach. In a few hours the bridge had sunk fully two feet and was impassable for teams.

Played Havoc With Tracks.

A little further up the creek toward Manitou the Midland railway's tracks were undermined for a distance of 300 feet. The expected cave-in did not occur, however, until shortly after noon, when at least 250 feet of track and ties fell with a crash. Wrecking crews were immediately put to work and an effort was made to change the course of the torrent which struck the tracks with all its force. A channel was dug on the northern bank of the creek in a curve which threw practically the whole volume of water in a southerly direction, but this was of little avail. Finding that nothing could be done by this method the train crews set to work grading for a new track, which will be laid just south of the present one.

Debris Floated Down Stream.

At both the Sixth and Fifth street bridges, crowds of people stood on the banks and watched the chocolate colored flood sweep by, carrying up-rooted trees, bridge piles and other debris as if they had been so many sticks. The roar of the water could be heard for quite a distance and had increased in depth from six inches of the day before [illegible]

Neither the bridge at Fifth street nor the Midland station was damaged. The experience of the spring of 1894 when the depot had to be chained to telegraph poles to save it from being carried bodily down the creek was not duplicated, the bank at this place having been filled in heavily with stone and brick.

The county bridge at First street below Washington avenue was wrecked early in the forenoon and the damage done by the heavy rains in Colorado City alone will reach thousands of dollars.

Between Manitou and Colorado City there is a difference of nearly 200 feet in altitude, and the velocity of the water in Fountain creek as it dashed through its own channels resembled a miniature Niagara.

OFFICERS AND CREW OF THE MISSOURI ARE COURT OF INQUIRY WHICH INVESTIGATED ACCIDENT.

Washington, May 2—That no further proceedings be taken is the recommendation of the court of inquiry appointed to investigate the explosion in the after-turret of the Missouri on April 12. The court finds the explosion was due to a "flare back" caused by an inexplicable combination of oxygen with certain usually inert gases in smokeless powder. The officers and crew of the Missouri are only are relieved from all responsibility for the accident but are warmly commended for the bravery they showed after its occurrence in rescuing the victims.

It was brought out in the evidence that there was not an extraordinary amount of powder in the handling room, nor were there more officers and men in the turret or handling room than were necessary for record target practice.

SILK MAKING AT THE WORLD'S FAIR

EVERYTHING FROM THE WORM TO THE WOVEN SILK FABRIC IS ENTERTAININGLY SHOWN AT THE EXPOSITION.

St. Louis, May 2—Everything pertaining to silk making from the little worm feeding on the mulberry leaves to the woven silk fabric of the mills is shown in the great Palace of Manufactures and in the Agriculture building at the World's fair.

Cocoons from New York are used in this display, and the mulberry leaves upon which the silk worms feed are taken from trees imported from Italy. In the Agricultural building the silk worms may be seen actively engaged in the first process of silk-making. Their silk cocoons are also shown.

All stages of silk culture are shown in the Agriculture building and the next step in silk making can be seen in the Manufactures building where the various phases of the work are exhibited, from the raw silk to the finished fabric. Machinery begins where the worm leaves off and World's fair visitors who have seen worm and admired the beautiful silks of commerce can see how these soft strands are first made by the tiny worm among the mulberry leaves and how man takes up the work of the worm and turns the raw silk into the finest of fabrics. The machinery's work as well as the worm's work in the process of silk making is done in plain view of the visitor.

Just beyond the silk factory is exhibited a fine collection of beautiful silks of every description. In this manner the underlying principles of the entire exposition are carried out, in showing the process of making alongside the finished products.

SNOW WAS GENERAL THROUGHOUT THE STATE.

Denver, May 2—A heavy storm continued in the plains and snow in the mountains, has prevailed over nearly the entire state today. Considerable damage to railroad property and delay by washouts was caused. No accidents are reported, however. Hail and high winds in certain sections played havoc with orchards and gardens. The moisture will prove of incalculable value to the ranges and agricultural sections as well as for furnishing water for mining.

PRAYER FOR ROOSEVELT GREETED WITH CHEERS.

Chicago, May 2—A prayer that President Roosevelt might be returned to the White house caused an unusual demonstration today during the opening exercises of the 22nd quadriennial conference of the African Methodist Episcopal church. Shouts of "Bless him, Oh, God," "Yes, yes," "Amen," "AMEN," greeted the words of Bishop W. J. Gaines of Georgia, when he invoked the blessing of God on the president of the United States "who has had the manhood and courage to stand up and do his duty at all times to men of every color and creed in spite of bitter criticism."

"If consistent with thy will oh God, when his term of office expires," continued the speaker, "send him back to the White house to serve another four years."

The utterance of the sentiment was the occasion of deafening shouts by the assembled delegates.

COUNCIL TO SEE BAKERS

Weight and Sale of Bread Is Discussed by Alderman—Streets of Manitou to Be Condemned.

An ordinance authorizing the city attorney to commence condemnation proceedings against Manitou for a right-of-way for water mains through Manitou, was introduced at the city council meeting last night by Alderman John Hill. A similar ordinance was introduced some time ago but certain errors were discovered which had to be corrected. The new ordinance was sent to the printer.

Alderman Hill also introduced an ordinance regulating the weight and sale of bread, placing the minimum weight of a loaf at one pound and allowing a shrinkage of not more than one ounce for 24 hours. The ordinance requires the stamping of the weight on all bread and also the stamping of the date of making on each loaf. Several provisions for healthy bread are also included. Penalties for violating are specified and the market master and health department are given authority to inspect all bakeries at will. The ordinance went over under the rules.

Alderman Verner reported for the water committee and stated that the new high line reservoir is filling and that puddling is progressing at Prospect lake.

Lyon S. Atkinson was granted the contract for the cement platform and granite steps at the city hall for $2,490. The only other bid was that of George Wright whose figure was $2,975.

Alderman Perkins said he heard Gilbert McClurg in Washington recently and said he feels that the money appropriated by the city for Mr. McClurg's work is being well expended.

Mr. Perkins said the street committee is trying to solve the question of shacks on East Victoria and West Kiowa streets and hopes soon to have these portions of the city cleaned up.

Dale Street Conduit.

On motion of Alderman Perkins the contract for the Dale street conduit was granted to John Stephenson at $18 per lineal foot.

The question of furnishing all city employes but the treasurer with a blanket bond was discussed but no action was taken.

Alderman Holden reported that the trees are all planted at the cemetery. The cemetery committee was authorized to put "markers" on head boards at graves of unknown persons in south-east section.

On recommendation of Alderman Perkins, the deed to Boulder court was returned to A. Wight because the street is not graded and there is no way of draining off the water.

Monthly reports of city officials were read and referred to the proper committees.

Bills of Clough and Anderson for $23.-310.98 for work on the Peak on the two reservoirs and the St. John tunnel were read and allowed. A bill of Doyle and Swartz for $254.65 for laying water mains was read and allowed. Regular monthly bills to the amount of $11,401.76 were read and allowed.

Bids on sewer contracts were opened and referred to the sewer committee.

Mayor Harris announced his suspension of Samuel Cook from the fire department pending an investigation into a charge of negligence. The suspension was approved. The mayor announced the appointment of William Shellenberger to the fire department to fill a vacancy. Approved. The mayor announced the appointment of Frank Van Dusen as special policeman at the Santa Fe depot, without pay. Approved.

The council went into executive session just before the close of the regular session and after City Attorney Shafer explained the status of the Neville damage case, it was decided to authorize him to appeal the case and the council then reconvened in regular session and authorized Mr. Shafer to take that effect after which an adjournment was taken until Tuesday, May 10.

REPUBLICANS FOR DELEGATES AND INDORSE ROOSEVELT AND PEABODY

porary organization was made permanent.

Judge Morris then moved the appointment of a committee of four on resolutions and the chair appointed W. S. Morris, K. C. Schuyler, J. E. Little and George M. Irwin.

On motion of D. F. Law, the chair appointed the following committee to suggest delegates to the state and congressional conventions: D. F. Law, John B. Stephen, Henry McAllister, Sr., and W. B. Price.

On motion of C. C. Hamlin, the prima facie roll was made the roll of the convention. W. S. Boynton announced that the following precincts were not represented: Table Rock, Monument, Husted, Buttes, Edgerton, Surber, Curtis, and Carlton.

Immediately after the roll had been decided upon, Judge W. S. Morris read the report of the committee on resolutions.

The report was in the shape of a resolution which appears on page one, expressing the principles of the party and indorsing the state and national administrations. The report was adopted unanimously by a rising vote.

From "Uncle Jimmie" Taggart.

While the convention was awaiting the return of the delegation committee, W. S. Boynton suggested that "Uncle Jimmie" Taggart be called on for a speech. The suggestion was greeted with cheers and "Uncle Jimmie," the old war horse of the Republican party of the county, arose and made one of his characteristic, whole-souled speeches. He stated that he liked the platform adopted and further said that the Republican party has been a platform in itself. The grand achievements of the party since 1860 down to the present day comprise the greatest history that could ever be written for any party, affirmed Mr. Taggart, and he was loudly applauded. Mr. Taggart then recited some of the issues that have been fought. He stated that as sure as two and two make four, so sure is the renomination and triumphant election of President Roosevelt. The speaker urged the Republicans of El Paso to put a united shoulder to the wheel and "meet the enemy and wipe them out."

Rev. J. P. Lucas, chaplain of the state penitentiary, was called on. He told an amusing story and was followed by James H. Harr, who also told a funny story.

The committee appointed to suggest delegates then returned and the report was read by Major McAllister. The report was unanimously adopted, and the delegates whose names are given below were declared elected.

The delegates elected to the state and congressional conventions are as follows:

H. H. Grafton of Manitou, then arose and offered the following resolution:

Resolution Precipitates Fight.

Whereas, In this county there are no rules for the distribution of the members of the Republican county central committee, and

Whereas, There should be some specific plan for the geographical distribution of the members of said committee, and

Whereas, The present committee has 16 members, 13 of whom live in the city of Colorado Springs, and

Whereas, The city of Colorado City has but one member of said county central committee, a proportion of representation of one to 13, while its population compared with that of Colorado Springs is one to five, and

Whereas, The country precincts of El Paso county are entirely without representation on said county central committee, and

Whereas, This unequal geographical distribution of the members of the said county central committee is clearly and flagrantly unjust, and

Whereas, The campaign for the election of president will open in all the states immediately upon the conclusion of the work of the national convention in Chicago, and the Republican party of El Paso county should at once organize for the purpose of giving the national and state tickets a rousing majority, and

Whereas, The proper and vigorous conduct of this campaign in El Paso county will be greatly facilitated by a fair representation of all parts of the county on its central committee, and

Whereas, Such fair and just representation on said committee will greatly benefit the Republican party in El Paso county, therefore, be it

Resolved, That during the life of the present county central committee, it shall be composed of its present membership, or their successors, and three additional members from that part of the first commissioner's district lying outside the city limits of Colorado Springs, three additional members from that part of the second commissioner's district lying outside the city limits of Colorado Springs, and three additional members from that part of the third commissioner's district lying outside the city limits of Colorado Springs, and be it further

Resolved, That this convention proceed to elect the additional members of the county central committee provided for in the foregoing resolution.

Mr. Grafton moved the adoption of the resolution and J. W. Wilson seconded it. Mr. Grafton then spoke in behalf of his motion and urged that it was only fair and right that the outside precincts should have representation on the county committee.

Judge Morris Leads Opposition.

Judge W. S. Morris then arose and in some heat characterized the introduction of the resolution as a breach of faith and a violation of agreements made between two factions in regard to the county convention.

Mr. Grafton replied vehemently and stated that he had been in no deals. Continuing he said: "I have come to this convention cognizant of nothing in the way of agreements. I expected that I would have the right of any delegate to introduce a resolution or vote as I saw fit."

Major Henry McAllister then jumped to his feet and heatedly supported Judge Morris. He said: "I heartily indorse every word Judge Morris has said. The passage of that resolution would be in violation of at least a tacit agreement. Agreements have been made. It was agreed that the convention should be called for the purpose of selecting delegates and for no other purpose."

W. S. Boynton then arose and said: "Some remarks that have been made in regard to this resolution make it necessary for me to say something. If any agreements have been made, I have been a party to them. I have been a party to an agreement that the delegations to the state and congressional conventions should be equally divided. I was a party to an agreement for the adoption of a resolution indorsing President Roosevelt, Governor Peabody and the congressmen from Colorado and in order to bring these things about I was a party to an agreement that the primary delegations from Colorado Springs precincts should be equally divided and I agreed, and those with me agreed, that we would use our influence with outside delegations to the same ends.

Sentiments That Were Applauded.

"I was a party to no other agreement. I fail to see wherein it is such a terrible thing to have a few farmers on this committee. In the good old days, the county commissioners were all farmers, and the state legislators from this county included farmers and the farmers were always represented on the central committee.

"What are you afraid of. What's the trouble here. The farmers of the county are loyal Republicans. It won't sell Colorado Springs Republicans to touch elbows with the hayseeds of the country. I don't understand the kick. Tell us what's up."

Mr. Boynton was cheered loudly all through his speech and at its close the applause was tumultuous, so much so, that Judge Morris could not make himself heard for some time when he started to reply.

Judge Morris replied almost angrily. "We are not afraid of the representation of the rural districts. Boynton was one of the chief factors in fixing things for this convention so as to avoid a split. The passage of this resolution would be a marked surprise to some and would be considered by them as a violation of the agreement. The passage of that resolution means harm to the Republican party of El Paso county.

Morris Again on Floor.

"There is no use disguising the fact, we are divided and not all the fighting force is on one side either. We cannot carry this county unless we are united. I appeal to you in behalf of the party. I would rather resign from the committee myself than see that resolution passed."

F. E. Boynton interrupted the judge here to ask: "What harm can the resolution do?"

Judge Morris replied that it would be a violation of an agreement. "Pass it," he said, "and you have done more harm to the Republican party than has been done by any faction in the past five years. You cannot start the factional fight quicker than by passing that resolution."

Mr. C. C. Hamlin then got the floor and said: "When the time comes that the doing of justice by the Republican party means a fight, then it is time to fight. (Tumultuous applause). God knows I am as much interested in Republican success in Colorado as any one. [illegible] It sick [illegible] well for a man to rise on the floor of this convention and say that the county committee is greater than the party. This is not a matter of factions. No agreement has been made that prevents the convention from going ahead and doing business and this is business."

Indorsed by Taggart.

James Taggart then spoke and said: "I can't see anything wrong with the resolution. I am a Republican and not a factional man. Don't say the passage of this or that will defeat the ticket. Who's going to defeat it? I am sure Judge Morris won't defeat the ticket. I don't like to hear such talk."

Senator Arthur Cornforth then secured the floor after a small tumult of cries for "question" had been quieted. Mr. Cornforth said: "I am in favor of the resolution but I want to offer an amendment. Everything has gone on harmoniously in this convention so far and I want to see everything done harmoniously and fairly. I want to amend the resolution to read that the additional men shall be chosen with a view to swelling up the balance of power in the central committee. Let the present minority in that committee take enough to make it as strong as the majority, the chairman, of course, having the deciding vote."

Some Facts From Boynton.

W. S. Boynton answered Senator Cornforth in strong words. He said: "Does the gentleman know that the county central committee is controlled by one faction three or four to one? Does he know that the committee last fall passed a resolution opening the doors of our primaries to every Democrat in this city? Does he know they took snap judgment last fall and placed the primaries ten days off, and then adopted a resolution that no Republican in the city could vote at the primaries unless he was registered? We took our medicine then and said nothing. Does he know that every Republican who voted in those primaries had to give his name and address to the judges who wrote them down in a poll book and who marked every ballot with a number and put a corresponding number on the poll book opposite the name of the voter, thus violating the sacred right of every man to vote without having his vote known? I don't know why it was done, unless some corporations wanted to know how their clerks voted at the primaries."

Senator Cornforth answered that he did not know anything about the central committee but supposed it was about evenly divided. He urged his amendment that the minority choose enough to even it up.

Several Calls for Recognition.

Amid deafening cries of "question" Judge Morris, John E. Little, W. W. Williamson and others were on their feet trying to gain the floor. Colonel Aldrich quieted the noise and urged the delegates to allow both sides to have a fair show. He then recognized Judge Morris and allowed him two minutes. Judge Morris heatedly answered Mr. Boynton and said that what the central committee did last fall was done in behalf of a clean ballot. The central committee acted in order that the vote should be properly counted, he said, and that everybody should have a fair vote. Closing, Judge Morris said: "If you pass this resolution, you transfer the fight from the primaries to this room."

Time Mistake Was Corrected.

John E. Little was then recognized and said: "It has been admitted by all that no injustice will be done by this resolution. If a mistake was made in leaving the country precincts unrepresented on the committee now is the time to correct it. There must be something behind the scenes that I cannot see. [illegible] come with good grace from a member of the central committee that that committee is greater than the party and that the committee does not need assistance from anybody."

Mr. Little was loudly cheered and again came cries of "question." Colonel Aldrich again urged the audience to give all a chance and recognized Colonel E. T. Ensign, who said: "I favor this resolution and I think it is proper to introduce it here. I don't see any harm in it. I think it should be voted on and if it is honestly defeated I will be satisfied but if it is dishonestly carried I think the others should be satisfied."

F. E. Boynton then spoke briefly. He appealed to Judge Morris and Major McAllister and to the other opponents of the resolution to be fair. He urged them to let the matter go to a vote and if it carried to take their medicine. "Try to defeat it honestly, if you can, and if you do we will stand with you and take our medicine," he said.

Chairman Settles a Point.

W. W. Williamson said the resolution was out of order as the call stated that the convention would be held only for the purpose of electing delegates to the two conventions. Col. Aldrich read the call and when the clause "and for the transaction of any other business that may properly come before it" was read there was more tumultuous cheering.

J. P. Jackson moved to lay the whole matter on the table. It was seconded and a vote taken. The motion lost overwhelmingly. After an earnest plea from "Uncle Jimmie" Taggart not to put the matter on factional lines, and a short speech from W. W. Williamson in opposition to the resolution, the vote was taken on the Cornforth amendment. The amendment was lost overwhelmingly. Then the motion was put on the original resolution and with a mighty cheer it was carried, the opposition recording but a few voices against it.

Nine Members Named.

C. C. Hamlin then arose and offered a resolution adding the following gentlemen to the county central committee: From the first commissioner's district, John Blue, of Peyton, C. W. Long of Templeton's Gap, Henry Limbach, of Monument; from the second commissioner's district, H. L. Ellington of Fountain, A. H. Wilson of Buttes, J. H. Bruening of Fountain Valley; from the third commissioner's district, John B. Stephen of Colorado City, James Taggart of Cascade, Henry Penfield of Manitou. The resolution was adopted without opposition.

The convention then adjourned.

ASSAULT CHARGE MADE BY WIFE

WHAT CUTTER IS ALLEGED TO HAVE STARTED TROUBLE THAT LED TO BLOWS AT HIS HOME.

Theodore Grieveldinger was arrested yesterday by Constable S. E. Shellenberger on warrants charging him with disturbance and assault with intent to kill. His wife, Anna Grieveldinger, was the complaining witness. Grieveldinger was arraigned before Justice Ruby and held for trial Saturday. Bail was furnished in the sum of $300 on each count.

The defendant is a meat cutter employed at one of the hotels. It seems that he got into an altercation with his wife Saturday evening at their home, 601 North Oak street, which finally led to blows. A warrant was immediately sworn out for his arrest, but he was not apprehended until yesterday.

COOK SUSPENDED

Fireman Dismissed From Department for 30 Days, as Result of an Investigation Made Since East Side Fire.

Engineer Samuel Cook, of steamer company No. 1, of the local fire department, has been suspended from duty for a period of 30 days by Mayor Ira Harris. The suspension is the result of an investigation made by Fire Chief E. E. Bates in regard to charges preferred against Cook as the result of the Lee Callahan fire on Sheridan avenue Friday night. It is claimed that Cook put the engine in operation without opening the outlet valve, which failed to throw an effective stream on the burning building, and thereby allowed the fire to gain great headway.

CRIPPLE CREEK—GREATEST OF ALL

THE Cripple Creek output for April indicates that the great gold mining district has finally reached its normal condition with respect to tonnage and values.

Though there have been some months in the past when the output went above $1,000,000, there have been very few, if any, perhaps that have been actually chronicled in the press.

The remarkable feature of the product of this district is not that the value for a single month is $1,000,000 or $2,000,000, but that for month in and month out, year after year, it is able to make such a steady contribution to the world's wealth.

For nearly 10 years now Cripple Creek has averaged over $1,000,000 a month in gold, with the exception, of course, of the two years when there were labor troubles in the district.

Though there have been many prophesies of a decline in the output of the district, though there have been many birds of ill omen who had declared that the camp could not, and would not last and that "the pace was too great to be maintained," yet the fact remains that the production of gold has gone steadily on with an evenness and precision that has surprised even the most sanguine of the mine owners.

And now at the end of 10 years of this immense production it is clear that it will be continued at the same ratio for many years to come. No man would be willing to stake his reputation by asserting that the tonnage and valuation is likely to decrease next year, or five years from now.

The simple fact of the matter is that no one knows how long the product will be maintained, but the indications are most flattering and everything is of an optimistic character. The old producers such as Portland, Strong, Independence, Gold Coin, El Paso, Mary McKinney, Vindicator and the rest are not only sending out ore of the same grade and character as for several years past, but are making new discoveries with every passing month.

The mines are in splendid shape and the outlook could not be improved. Cripple Creek is indeed wonderful, and continues to surprise even those who have known it longest and best.

THE REPUBLICAN COUNTY COMMITTEE.

THE Republican County convention acted wisely and with justice yesterday in voting to increase the county committee by the addition of nine members, making 25 in all.

The representation hitherto upon this committee has been entirely one sided. Colorado Springs has had nearly seven-eighths of the committee and Colorado City, Manitou and the more eastern section of the county the balance.

The convention decided to make the division more equitable by adding the new members from those portions of the three county commissioner districts lying in this city.

The effect of this addition to the committee will be to add to the working force of the party in this county, thus creating a deeper political interest outside Colorado Springs than has been the case hitherto.

And inasmuch as every Republican vote in El Paso county will be needed this fall in order to insure a Republican administration in Colorado and Republican votes in the electoral college for Theodore Roosevelt, it is the part of wisdom and good policy to have every member of this committee in every part of El Paso county who will make it their personal business to get out a full Republican vote.

Every principle of justice and fairness demanded that this change be made and there will be no objection to the interests of the Republican party in El Paso county there can be no doubt.

MRS. COULTER'S POSITION.

IT IS drawing the line pretty fine when the First National Convention of Women's Clubs refuses to listen to an address by Mrs. Mary J. Coulter of Utah, because her husband, when a member of the legislature, voted for Reed Smoot for senator.

Inasmuch as the personal character of Reed Smoot is above reproach, and inasmuch as he is not a polygamist, it appears that Mrs. Coulter was justified from a practical point of view, in voting for Reed Smoot if she saw fit.

Indeed the question concerning the senator from the state of Utah which has been before the United States senate for several months, has long since passed the point of the personal fitness of Mr. Smoot, but is now concerned wholly with the political attitude of the Mormon church, of which he is a member.

If the senate decides that a man cannot be a good Mormon and a good citizen or representative of the people at the same time, that is quite another story. Certainly Mrs. Coulter, in satisfying herself as to the personal character and ability of the man for whom she voted, did all that she could be reasonably expected to do and should not be criticised or ostracised at this late day for her act.

JOHN RUSKIN'S CHARACTERISTICS

Ruskin's kindness had its roots in the essential sweetness of his nature. Everything in life had conspired to spoil him. He was often willful and wayward and extravagant, but the better elements of his being prevailed over those which, to his harm, were to gain power when he was released from the controlling influence of his father's good sense and his mother's authority. The extraordinary keenness of his perception of external things, the capacity of his intelligence, the ardor of his temperament, the immense variety of his interests and occupations, and the tireless energy and industry with which he pursued them, made him one of the most interesting of men. And combined as this was with deep poetic and earnest moral sentiment, as well as with a born desire to give pleasure, they gave to intercourse with him a charm which increased as acquaintance grew into affectionate friendship. His mind was, indeed, at this time in a state of ferment. He was still mainly busy with those topics of art and nature to which his writings had hitherto been devoted. But his work in that field had led him into other fields of inquiry, which stretched wide and dark before him, through which no clear paths were visible, and into which he was entering not without hope of opening a way. Henceforth his chief mission was that, not of the guide in matters of art, but of the social reformer.—Charles Eliot Norton, in the Way Awhile.

THE WHISTLER.

Throughout the sunny day he whistled on his way,
Oh! high and low and gay and sweet,
The melody rang down the street.
Till all the weary, worn and gray,
Smiled at their work, or stopped to say—
"New God be thanked that youth is fair,
And light of heart and free from care."

When time the wind blew high, he whistled and went by.
Then clarion clear on every side
The song was scattered far and wide,
Like birds above a flurry that fly
The songs rose soared to the sky:
Oh! said whose courage does not fail
But with a song can meet the gale."

And when the rain fell fast, he whistled when he passed,
A little tune the whole world knew,
A song of love, of love most true,
Or though the tears, it came at last
To one by sorrow overcast.
"Dear Christ," she said "by night and day
They serve who praise—as well as pray."

And when the fog hung gray, he whistled on his way.
The little children in his train,
[illegible]
Then [illegible] what he might say.
Followed with them that merry day:
"Is it for joy of life," quoth I,
"Good sir, you go a-whistling by?"
He smiled and sighed and shook his head.
"I cheer my own sad heart," he said.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I am [illegible] Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to my friends as a tonic and [illegible] which so often [illegible] I suffered for months with general [illegible] and felt so nervous I could hardly walk to [illegible] up. I [illegible] Vegetable Compound was [illegible] to try it, and [illegible] the first dose for at that time [illegible] I am happy to say I am entirely well. I feel so elated and happy that I can at all times recommend your medicine as well as I did." —Miss Grace Gleason, 300 Jefferson St., Detroit, Mich., Secretary Amateur Art Association.

[illegible] Miss Gleason's letter is only one of the [illegible] which are continually published in the newspapers of this country, the great virtue of Mrs. Pinkham's medicine must be admitted by all.

A Convention of Bible Defense

Friends of the bible declare the time to have arrived when assaults upon the scriptures should be repelled. They have organized an American Bible League—American because they propose to inaugurate a campaign that shall extend throughout the nation; Bible because they believe it to be the word of God; and League because they are banded together for an organization to the higher critics that they assert is not be both united and determined.

Recent large meetings of men eminent as instructors of the young, who declare under the guise of critical scholarship that they are truth seekers and nothing more, have aroused the defenders of inspired scripture. The latter declare that something must be done if anything is to remain. It is bible or no bible, they say. Crime is on the increase, as statistics show, and the chief cause of it is the fact that God's word is openly discredited.

[illegible] League [illegible] in warfare [illegible] announces itself as defenders of the bible as it is, and declares that it finds interest in its work of bible defense so great that people are to attend the convention from all parts of the country. Special railroad rates are being arranged. That the league considers the situation grave is shown by the fact that the opening meeting at this convention will have for its subject "The Present Assault on the Bible." The convention is to be held in the Marble Collegiate Reformed church, New York city. The dates are May 3, 4 and 5. The pastor of the church, named is the Rev. Dr. David James Burrell, himself a defender of an inspired bible, and enjoying a national reputation as a preacher.

The opening address, which is expected to fill the bill for the meeting, will be delivered by the Rev. Dr. Francis L. Patton, the president of Princeton Theological seminary, and former president of Princeton university. This address will set forth the nature of the present assault, and point out its unparalleled danger. Discussions upon it are to follow by the Rev. Dr. Theodore E. Schmauk, president of the Lutheran general council, by the Rev. Dr. Henry C. Minton, former moderator of the Presbyterian general assembly, and the Rev. Dr. S. L. Bowman, the well-known lecturer and until recently the head of the theological department of the De Pauw university. The president of the league, Mr. William Phillips Hall, the well-known business man who takes such warm interest in the religious welfare of the people, and in the progress of America, will occupy the chair.

That the assault is regarded as a death one is shown by the fact that the topic of the first morning session will point out the practical consequences of the attack. This attack is producing demoralization of conduct and of education, and is having tremendous influence, all of it baneful, upon the ministry and upon all forms. The addresses on the topic will be delivered by the Rev. Dr. Albert H. Plumb, a leading Congregational pastor of Boston, and the Rev. J. B. Remensnyder, pastor of the principal Lutheran church in New York, and one of the best known leaders of the Lutheran general synod. Discussions will follow by the Rev. Dr. J. Ross Stevenson, pastor of Dr. John Hall's old New York church; the Rev. Dr. Booth, a former Presbyterian moderator; Bishop Satterlee of the Reformed Episcopal church; and the Rev. Dr. D. J. Burrell of the Reformed church.

On the same day, and following in the evening, vital topics like the following will be discussed: "The Groundlessness of the Present Rationalistic Claims" the aim being to show that the claims now put forth by the higher critic assailants are the same old heretical claims of past ages. It will also be shown that these rationalistic arguments go directly to undermine the principles of the New Testament, and later on in the discussions it will also be shown that higher criticism is not [illegible]

MINING DECISIONS IN SUPREME COURT

Decision of District Court of Arapahoe County in Gold King Case of Seymour against Colburn Was Reversed in Higher Courts.

Denver, May 2.—The supreme court, in a decision handed down by Justice Steele today, sustained the ruling of the lower court in the case of the Anaconda Mining company, et al., against the town of Anaconda, where judgment was secured against the mining company for taxes and assessments for improvements to streets and for lights.

The petition for the rehearing of the case against Henry C. Brown, et al., was denied. The supreme court handed down a mighty decision on this case, and the main reason for the denial of the rehearing was because the applicants in the matter, the New York Life Insurance company, et al., were estate creditors whose rights are fully protected by the judgments already entered in the lower courts.

The finding of the district court of Arapahoe county, giving a judgment of $100,000 to Benjamin F. Seymour against E. A. Colburn was reversed. Seymour secured a purchaser for the Gold King Mining company which was owned by Colburn, and the purchase price offered for the property was $100,000. Of this amount Seymour was to receive 18 per cent. When the purchaser was secured Colburn refused to sell, and the district court of Arapahoe county held that the broker was entitled to his commission. The supreme court overruled this judgment because it was not shown that the purchaser secured was able to pay the price asked.

Judgment entered for $5,113 in favor of John T. Keegan, against Constance H. Brown, et al., in the district court of Lake county was reversed by the supreme court. The opinion was delivered by Justice Steele who held that as it was a commission for the sale of mining property according to a stipulated contract, when the terms of that contract were not carried out the defendant was not entitled to his full commission, but the court found that Constance H. Brown was indebted to Keegan for $10,000 for the services rendered. The property in question was the Golden-Tiger Mining property, for which Keegan secured a purchaser. Daniel C. Murphy made a different deal with the mining company than Keegan's contract called for and refused to pay the commission demanded.

THE COLORADO SPRINGS MINING STOCK EXCHANGE

El Paso took another spurt yesterday, selling at 85. Doctor Jack Pot advanced an eighth; Isabella sold at 34; Old Gold was not traded in and Elkton showed no change.

The above is the story of the day's trading in the mines list. As for the prospects, while more stocks were traded in, there were no remarkable departures from last week's quotations.

Only one stock was sold in the miscellaneous department, Favorite, at 66c.

LARGE TRADING IN NEW YORK STOCKS

Fluctuations Were Small—Effect of the Gatty Payment Made a Cause of Heaviness.

New York, May 2.—A larger volume of business was transacted on the stock exchange today than the average done last week, and fluctuations were smaller. The specific causes of the heaviness of the market were not easy to discern, but the delay to see the operation of the Panama canal payment tended to an influence in keeping sentiment unsettled. The reticence observed by the agents in this operation as to the details by which it is to be carried out leaves little basis for favorable inferences, and the assurances offered by them against that every precaution has been taken to guard against disturbance of the money market does not entirely account for its purpose.

The additional call by the treasury upon government depositaries makes evident that the full amount of the Panama purchase will be withdrawn from government deposits with banks. Another result of the additional call on government depositaries will be the release of government bonds held for the security of these deposits. The effect was seen in the decline in government bonds today. How far this condition may induce the banks to take out additional circulation is a question of interest.

The lock-out of the Atchison machinists was an adverse factor, although that stock held better than some of the Pacifics.

MANY BEAR FACTORS IN CHICAGO WHEAT.

Chicago, May 2.—In response to a fair demand from a short, the wheat market opened about steady. Soon afterward, however, reports of excellent weather throughout the greater part of the country created a bearish sentiment. In consequence, after a slight advance, the first prices started on a downward career. In different cables large world's shipments, an increase of 1,000,000 bushels in the amount on passage, all were additional bear factors. There was general commission house selling. Many stop loss orders came out on the way down. One of the most influential traders in the pit was a conspicuous seller. The close was heavy with July at 84½.

Decreased receipts with a small percentage of contract grain held the corn market firm. The close was weak and near the bottom.

On the face of weakness in grains and lower prices for hogs, provisions closed firm at a slight advance in all products. The leading futures ranged as follows:

OPHIR NOTES

The Gold King mill will start up as soon as the water supply is sufficient for mill purposes. A large amount of ore is on hand and big blocks of ground ready for the miners to blast down. Charles Hedlund who was in town last week says that the prospects never looked better.

Last Wednesday George R. Pickett put a small force of men to work on what is known as the "Wealth of Ophir" group of claims, located in Chipmunk gulch. At present all the work will be done in drifting on the Gold Leaf vein and several tons of ore will be extracted and sent to the mill for a test run. The ore is free milling and easily saved by amalgamation. The property is owned by R. C. Howell, New York.

The German American Consolidated Gold Mining company, of Milwaukee, Wis., which owns a valuable group of claims in Marshall gulch, Swatch mountain, is making preparations for a big summer's work. At present the snow is bothering them but when it is off the ground look out for something doing. The company is composed of Milwaukee capitalists with unlimited means.

LA PLATA MINES

The Bay City management has decided to resume work on their main tunnel and drive it to the junction of the vertical and blanket veins.

The Bulldozer force is still drifting on good ore and we expect to be allowed to publish some important news regarding this property within a week or two.

The C[illegible] mine is only working three men at present, but, if the car of ore shipped last week gives right returns, as it is liked, that [illegible] men will be put on at once.—(La Plata Miner.

While the Empire Mining company has not yet started their machine drills on the Small Hopes tunnel, they are busily engaged in getting things into such shape that there will not be any stoppages when they once get started. The tunnel is being retimbered, track relaid and an additional building put up. They will let a coal contract this week and we hope to see rock breaking commenced within a few days.—(La Plata Miner.

The latest strike in this district was made last week in the Mary Helen lode, one of the Londonderry Mining company's properties at Oro Fino and near the Neglected mine. This new discovery consists of a 3-inch streak of $2,000 ore and an 18-inch streak of lower grade, but shipping ore. This is a very important strike as most of the properties there, outside of the Neglected, have failed to show very rich ore, although having large bodies of milling ore, and this discovery will stimulate a more thorough prospecting of other properties. We have held that careful and systematic work would show many shipping mines in this locality and this discovery goes a long way toward confirming our assertion.
